Killed by Falling Tree.

Mr. Conrad Linner, a farmer living out Big Wheeling creek, about three miles from Elm Grove, died last night at 9 o'clock, the result of an accident. He was in his sixty-ninth year. Mr. Linner was well known in this city, having kept a stall in the Second ward market for years. The accident which caused his death occurred yesterday about noon. His grandson was chopping down a tree and in falling the tree struck Mr. Linner. Dr. Cracraft was immediately summoned, but the injuries were beyond mortal aid. The funeral was not arranged for last night.

In Clerk Robertson's Office.

Business was fair in the marriage license line in Clerk Robertson's office yesterday. The wants of the following were satisfied:
Joseph P. Darling, aged twenty-three, of Genon Junction, Wis., and Katherine H. Mayer, aged twenty, of Wheeling.
Joseph Hunter, aged thirty-one, and Patsy Brown, aged twenty-eight, (widow), aged thirty-three, both colored, of Wheeling.
George A. Koch, aged twenty-eight, of Wheeling, and Alice Owens, (widow), aged twenty-eight, of Elm Grove.

There was recorded the following deed:
Deed dated September 6, 1899, between John G. Hoffman, et al., and wife, of the first part, and H. W. Schrebe and William Kirbach, of the second part, transferring lots in John G. Hoffman's amended addition, fronting on South Eoff street; consideration, $2,400.

"THAT'S THE MAN"

Said the Widow of the Man Murdered by a Negro

WHEN SHE SAW THE SUSPECT

Who had Been Arrested by the Police. But Upon a Closer Examination of the Fellow She and two Others Who Know the Murderer Said the Wrong Man had Been Arrested—A Dramatic Scene in Real Life.

One of the most dramatic scenes ever enacted off the stage was put on in real life last night at police headquarters, when Mrs. Lawler, of Willock's station, Allegheny county, Pa., confronted the colored suspect who had been arrested by the Wheeling police as the man wanted for the murder of William Lawler, the latter part of August, one of the most brutal and unprovoked crimes ever occurring in western Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Lawler, with a friend and neighbor and a colored man, all of whom had seen the murderer, arrived in the city last evening, and at once went to police headquarters. They were taken downstairs into the lockup waiting room. Cliff Meggison, the name given by the suspect, was brought into the room from his cell, and the instant Mrs. Lawler saw the fellow she gave a piercing scream and cried:

"That's the man! He's the man who killed my husband."
Then, as though fainting, she tottered backward into the arms of one of the officers, Lieutenant Supple, to whom she turned and said imploringly: "Don't let him kill me."
Meggison actually turned pale, but he managed to find his voice, and said in a choking tone:

"Lady, examine me closely. I never saw your husband. I never hurt a man in my life."
The scene as this occurred was very dramatic, but the evident anxiety that he be closely examined at once instilled doubts into the minds of the police. Mrs. Lawler and her companions were prevailed upon to examine the fellow closely, and then united in coming to the conclusion finally that Meggison was not the murderer, though bearing a striking resemblance to the man wanted.

"No, you're not the man," said Mrs. Lawler, after it had been shown that the fellow didn't fit the description of the murderer in several particulars.

"Lady, I'm mighty glad tuh heah yuh say that," said Meggison in accents that still trembled from the excitement of her previous arraignment.

Meggison was promptly released by the police. Mrs. Lawler and her companions return to Pittsburgh this morning.

The murderer has a light spot on his neck which Meggison has not; the murderer is some heavier, has square jaws and is not so tall as the suspect.

Circuit Court.

In the circuit court yesterday there was an order of dismissal, at the costs of the plaintiff, in the case of W. G. Long vs. Cameron Oil & Gas Company.

THE BEST

I've seen for the money, said an enthusiastic buyer who had visited every store, reserving ours for the last, and when I leave my $12 with you I feel as if I had an $18 suit for it. Nothing new to us. We always did claim to give the best—always felt as if the public knew it, too, with the special efforts for improvements in quality and lowering of prices it may be more noticeable this season.

We would like you to compare anything you see for $10 or even $11 with our $7.50 handsome All-Wool New Fall Suits and Overcoats, and ours at $10 with others at $12.50 and $15, and ours at $12.50 with others at $18, and so on throughout our entire line.

Have You Boys to Clothe?

We are ready for them with all that's neat, stylish, durable and economical. Talking of economy, we confess it a pleasure to have parents constantly tell us that the "HUB CLOTHES OUTWEAR ALL OTHERS," though they cost no more and often much less. Boys' Short Trousers Suits $1.50, $1.75, $2.00, $3.00, $3.50 to $8.00. Boys' Long Trousers Suits $3.50, $5.00, $6.50, $8.00, $10.00 to $18.00.
